CONTRACTS OUT FOR NORWICH TEAM

"Keep your foot on the soft, soft, soft, soft," hummed Manager Denile Haves of the Norwich baseball team of the new Connecticut Baseball association as he scanned a pile of letters that came to his desk at the club headquarters. The manager was engaged in the task of whitening them down to a workable basis, but from the recommendations he was reading it looked as if he had to pick from the greatest aggregation of bat breakers, fly chasers and hot shot handers that had ever been assembled under one canvas. The whole Atlantic seaboard from Maine to Florida contributed the phenoms who wished to wear a big "N" on their shirts for the coming summer.

But the local fans who have been wondering what were the prospects for a Norwich team may cheer up and take hope. It is actually in the works, and the long list of men wanting a tryout has been sliced down to about twenty who will be given a chance to make good. The contracts for half a dozen or more are already in the mails and by the end of the week there will be a list of men who will be given a tryout. Then it will be up to the fans to say whether it will all stop with talk or whether they will give it the support that a league team to represent the city deserves.

By being on the alert ahead of the other fellows, one player, Stephen J. Paul, assistant stage manager of the South Wales company, was the first to affix his signature to a Norwich contract. He is an outfielder and has played for the Boston Red Sox. He build he looks rugged enough for the place.
